1 Introduction

In the report to the Party's 20th National Congress, it was emphasized that "Building a strong sense of nationalism among Chinese nationals should be our main priority, as should following the correct path of resolving ethnic problems with Chinese characteristics, and maintaining and improving regional ethnic autonomy, advance the ethnic unity and progress of the Party by strengthening and improving its ethnic work ."[1]Colleges and universities are important places to train successors for the socialist cause, and college students are important subjects of talent training. In the new era, it is important to clarify the importance of building a strong sense of Chinese national community among college students, summarize the problems existing in the current work, and explore innovative practice paths for deepening and implementing the "five Outlooks" and "five identifications" education, and condense the great will for the realization of the Chinese nation's great rejuvenation.

2 The value implication of Strengthening College Students' awareness of the Chinese national community in the new era

2.1 A vital part of achieving the Chinese nation's great rejuvenation dream.

Realizing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation is the common aspiration of all Chinese people and the common goal of the people of all ethnic groups across the country. It reflects the ideals and beliefs of countless people who have been working tirelessly and seeking from top to bottom since modern times, and embodies the overall interests of the Chinese national community. College Students' understanding of the country, nation, history, culture and value will directly affect whether they can correctly understand the consciousness of the Chinese national community.[2]Enhancing the understanding of the Chinese national community among college students is conducive to enhancing students' ideals and beliefs, practicing core values, actively combining their personal ideals with the actual needs of national development, actively engaging in the collective effort of unity and collaboration, shared prosperity and growth, and intentionally transforming into a modern individual to achieve the revitalization of the Chinese people.

2.2 To protect the unity of the country, maintain peace in society, and achieve the reunification of the homeland.

The history of China is the history of the integration of all ethnic groups in the country , forming a pluralistic and integrated Chinese nation. It is a history of the great motherland created, developed and consolidated by all ethnic groups.[3] At present, under the influence of globalization and scientific and technological progress, various cultures and values continue to flow in and have an impact on the national consciousness and national unity of some young students; Some hostile forces outside China are trying to demagogue the people, undermine unity and split the country[4]. As college students are still forming their worldviews and outlooks on life, and are often easy to be used by hostile forces abroad, which will cause serious harm to the reunification of the motherland, national unity and social stability. Therefore, it is particularly important to cultivate the consciousness of the Chinese national community among college students, strengthen their sense of identity with the motherland, the Chinese nation, and the Chinese culture, further cultivate patriotism, strengthen the belief in communism, and firmly establish the "one China" principle.

2.3 It is a crucial guarantee to inspire college students in the new era to take on the important tasks of the times.

There can be no doubt that teenagers are the hope of the nation, the future of the nation, the new force for the party and the people, the builders and successors of the socialist movement., and are responsible for ensuring that China's great rejuvenation is realized. Help college students integrate their own interest needs and personal value pursuit into the national rejuvenation and the construction of a powerful country, and continually cultivate new people of the times with all-round development of morality, intelligence, physique, arts, and labor to build a powerful nation and rejuvenate the nation .

3 The difficulties encountered in building college students' awareness of the Chinese national community in the new era.

In the party and country, colleges and universities play a major role in educating people. They must be soberly aware that education for building a strong sense of China's national community is one of the most important strategic projects for modernizing the country and reviving it. At present, there are still some problems to be solved in Colleges and universities in building college students' awareness of the Chinese national community.

3.1 A lack of awareness of the importance of building a strong Chinese nationalism, as well as a lack of initiative in learning.

From the actual situation, the majority of students have a basic understanding of the Chinese national community and have initially formed Chinese national consciousness, but a considerable number of students still lack a basic understanding of it, let alone a profound understanding of the national consciousness of the Chinese. The reason is that some students think that learning the knowledge related to the community is boring and only need to know the concept, so they can not really understand its profound connotation; Some students are not interested in history and current affairs, do not take the initiative to understand the development of relevant theories and the release of policies, and still have thoughts unrelated to them. The reasons are as follows: some students are not interested in historical knowledge and current political news, so they lack initiative in understanding the development of relevant theories and policies; In spite of their interest in learning about the Chinese national community, some students find the classroom teaching and reading materials boring, and they are easily attracted by other things in the teacher's classroom teaching, and fail to absorb and master the classroom content. Under the influence of different reasons, some college students failed to form a clear enough understanding of the Chinese national community.

3.2 The educational content is not rich enough, and the curriculum teaching system is lack of coordination.

In most colleges and universities, curriculum teaching has been used to promote students' awareness of the Chinese national community, but they have not formed a systematic and complete teaching content. First, there is a wide range of knowledge covered in college textbooks today, but the depth is not enough. It is common for colleges and universities to only introduce basic concepts and theories of ideology and politics, and the educated lack the deep understanding and practical motivation of the consciousness of the Chinese national community. Second, the cultivation method is relatively simple. Education is only limited to books. The classroom does not make good use of the educational resources such as the education base for the inheritance of Chinese culture, museums and cultural museums to carry out social practice education, which affects the effectiveness of College Students' awareness of the Chinese national community. Third, the ideological and political development of the curriculum is not in-depth. Non ideological and political teachers are still lacking in exploring the relevant contents, examples of Chinese community consciousness and its value requirements.

3.3 The environmental atmosphere is not strong, and the effectiveness of educational activities is not strong.

Currently, the international situation is complex and changing, and the ideological field shows broad diversity. The western social thoughts inevitably have an impact on the college students. This requires us to start with the educational environment and atmosphere, and cultivate the Chinese community's consciousness subtly. However, in fact, the campus platforms and media that promote college students' awareness of the Chinese national community are not as rich in content and form as they could be, and the activities to deepen the Chinese community's consciousness are so limited, which is not attractive and has no obvious value orientation; The construction of the network culture education environment is not perfect, and it has not been fully integrated with the course teaching, which leads to the weak effectiveness of the education of firmly building college students' awareness of the Chinese national community.[5]

4 Establish a path of realization for college students' awareness of the Chinese national community.

Because of the difficulty in cultivating Chinese national awareness among college students, such as the lack of awareness of the whole part of students, the lack of rich educational content, and the lack of strong environmental atmosphere, continuing to enrich the scientific education system for Chinese nationals is essential, strengthening the active role of students, and strengthening the cultivation environment.

4.1 Develop a deeper understanding of the Chinese national community by enhancing subjective initiative.

It is imperative that we have a deep understanding of the history of China, in which all ethnic groups have developed vast territories, written long histories, created splendid cultures, and cultivated great spirits together, and constantly increase our understanding of China's nation, culture, Communist Party, and a socialism with Chinese characteristics. Second, we should have a profound understanding of the profound connotation of building a strong sense of the Chinese national community. We should take multiple measures at the same time, teach students in accordance with their aptitude, lay stress on the academic principles, principles, feelings and principles of building a strong sense of community among Chinese, guide young students to accurately grasp the essence, historical basis and objective requirements of building a strong sense of community among Chinese, and firmly uphold their ideals and beliefs, cultivate patriotism, improve moral development, gain knowledge and insight, and cultivate a spirit of struggle To improve the overall quality of life. Third, stimulate college students' sense of pride in taking the initiative. We should continue to carry out in-depth publicity and education on the "five identities", increase publicity and education about the history of the party, the history of the new China, the history of reform and opening up, as well as the history of socialist development, guide young students to actively and resolutely safeguard national unity and national unity, and consciously integrate patriotism, ambition to strengthen the country, and reporting to the state into the struggle to achieve great Chinese rejuvenation by establishing a modern socialist country[6].

4.2 Improve the scientific cultivation system and Utilize the advantages of higher education to the fullest extent possible.

First, we should attach importance to the important position of the main channel of Ideological and political education classroom and improve the content system of teaching materials. We should deeply explore the historical resources, local resources and network resources that contain the consciousness of the Chinese national community, constantly introduce the old and bring forth the new according to the changes of the times, carry out the normalized education of the consciousness of the Chinese national community, and further strengthen the college students' consciousness of the Chinese national community in theory. Second, we should follow the characteristics of College Students' psychological development, enrich educational content and teaching forms, and help college students form a correct national outlook. We should adhere to the unity of self-education and other education, and guide college students to carry out self-education on the basis of a correct understanding of history and the formation of a correct national view. Third, broaden the teaching carrier and dig deep into cultivation resources. Expanding and using the carrier should start with the characteristics of the ideological and political course, relying on the idea that true knowledge can only be achieved through practice, integrate the development requirements of the times and students' cognitive level, and promote the practice teaching mode of teaching base and resource development, so as to realize the collaborative teaching in and out of class. On the one hand, actively docking various teaching bases to improve the effectiveness of practical teaching. The organization invited experts, scholars and party and government cadres to the school to carry out theme education lectures. At the same time, it organized college students to go out of the school and carry out on-site activities in patriotism education bases, national museums, revolutionary memorial venues and other places. [7]Fourth, keep up with the requirements of the times and build a team of high-quality teachers. Optimise the structure of ideological and political course teachers at colleges and universities. Establish the construction concept of "selection, introduction, training and stability", strictly select high-quality part-time teachers or employ experts and scholars inside and outside the school, Compensating for the shortage of ideological and political teachers, and increase their talent reserve. At the same time, we will focus on multi-level, multi-channel and multi-dimensional training for new teachers and young teachers, and strive to cultivate a large number of reserve talents and backbone talents.

4.3 Create a good environment and atmosphere, and form a pattern of learning together, working together and enjoying together.

The campus environment is an indispensable part of College Students' campus life in the new era, and an important carrier for the education of the awareness of the Chinese national community. First, we should create an atmosphere of unity and learning, give play to the hidden role of the cultural environment, and present three-dimensional Chinese cultural symbols and images with profound implications, rich connotations and common sharing on various campus platforms, carriers and publicity media. In order to enhance the campus cultural environment comprehensively. Second, we should improve the ability of online education, utilize online education to its maximum potential, encouraging students from all ethnic groups to attend the same class, sing the same song and read the same book through synchronous classes and double teacher lectures, be good at using the Internet to draw the concentric circle of teachers and students of all ethnic groups, build the spiritual home shared by teachers and students of all ethnic groups, and make the Internet an effective tool for higher education institutions to enhance awareness of the Chinese national identity. Third, we should strengthen the construction of teachers' ethics and conduct, give full play to the fundamental role of the majority of teachers in education, support and attract outstanding talents to participate in the work of building a strong sense of the Chinese national community, vigorously promote the spirit of educators, deepen ideological understanding, enhance the ability of education, guide the majority of teachers to set an example in education and teaching, and consciously be the promoter and leader of building a strong sense of the Chinese national community, form a pattern of teachers and students of all ethnic groups living together, learning together, working together and enjoying together.

5 Conclusions

In the current context of globalization and diversification, various ideas exchange, blend and clash, and national unity faces many challenges. Only by fostering a strong sense of community among the Chinese nation can we pool the strength of the whole nation and jointly cope with various risks and challenges. College teachers and students should actively practice the consciousness of Chinese nation community, guide college students to establish correct national, national and cultural views through classroom teaching, campus cultural activities and social practices, maintain national unity and social stability in China, and strive to realize the Chinese dream of great national rejuvenation.
